A magazine for employees of Gulf States Utilities Company

PLAIN TALKS is issued by the Advertising Department, Gulf States Utilities Company, Lock Drawer 2951, Beaumont, Texas. Kenneth Sutton, advertising director; James S. Turner, supervisor of publicity; Tommy Read, associate editor; Jasper F. Worthy, contributing editor, Baton Rouge.

. . . To All Gulf Staters and Their Families

Christmas, as no other time, strengthens our love of family, our bonds of friendship and our spirit of good will toward men. This is the season to enjoy the blessings of health and happiness and to spread cheer to those less fortunate.

Your record through the years proves that it is habitual with you to observe the Golden Rule in your day to day contacts with the public we serve. I am proud to be one of you.

My sincere best wishes to all Gulf Staters and their families for a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

OUR COVER

Christmas being a time of joy and good will toward our fellow man, the PLAIN TALKS staff decided to use a full color cover to add a little extra sparkle. The humorous picture that was our final choice, we have to admit, is not our work — we wish it could have been.

We think the cover design lends itself perfectly to the Christmas spirit.

Company Parties Mean CHRISTMAS Is HERE

Every year about this time, people's thoughts turn to the rapidly approaching season. Everybody hurries about buying Christmas gifts, addressing cards, planning parties, selecting food for the holiday feast, and doing a thousand other things that must be done before that happy—and most reverent -day.

Our company has helped employees and their families celebrate with parties for many Christmases, although the hard work and planning has been done by the various employee clubs in each division. There are gifts for the children, fun and refreshments for all.

PLAIN TALKS has compiled a schedule of all these parties. If you have misplaced your invitation or are in doubt about when and where your department will have its party, here they are.

Those nickels and dimes which perked up Beaumont Gulf Staters during coffee breaks over a period of years last month did a much bigger job of "Perking up" 16 health, welfare, educational and character-building organizations in the Beaumont area.

A check of the non-profit shop's bank account last June revealed a healthy balance, with all bills paid or accounted for. What to do with the money? The Coffee Shop Committee, composed of Elsie Davis of Industrial Sales; H. C. Hansen, of the Corporation Department. Jeanette Goodnight of Customer Accounting and Robert L. Wynne, Jr.. of the Statistical Department, agreed that the Gulf Staters who had paid in the nickels should decide in the accepted American way—by the ballot.

The voting was held and the final count indicated that the majority wanted the money to go to several worthy causes in Beaumont. The funds were allocated on the basis of the number of votes cast for each organization. Checks were mailed out last month, with a letter explaining that the contribution was from the folks at Gulf States who wanted to help them carry out their programs.

Letters of appreciation have been received from nearly every recipient. Lack of space makes it impractical to print all the letters, but as Christmas nears, we think this excerpt from the letter received from the Sisters at the St. Therese Hospital tells the story better than we could.

"... This was a very God-like and generous gesture on the part of all concerned, and we are very grateful to you for thinking of us. This was certainly a wonderful idea your group had, and I am so glad that your heart was filled with so much kindness, by giving to Welfare, Charitable and Educational purposes. Again, many thanks for your great generosity. God bless and be with you all.

Sincerely:

Sister Mary Philip and Sisters

Gift List

The Beaumont organizations which benefited from the generosity of some Gulf Staters are the Central Nursery, Boy's Haven, Cerebral Palsy Foundation, National Muscular Dystrophy Research Foundation, Inc., United Appeals, Salvation Army, Beaumont Rescue Mission, Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, Jefferson County TB Hospital, Municipal Hospital, Hotel Dieu Hospital, Baptist Hospital, St. Therese Hospital, St. Elizabeth Hospital Building Campaign, the Live Wires Club, Lamar College, and Free Coffee.

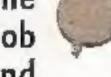

As a step in the Company-wide program for better control of files and records, the Record Committee has prepared and is now distributing a manual describing practices for the handling and distribution of material and its filing. Ruth Stine, supervisor of records, is shown presenting Mr. Nelson with the first manual. The practices described in the manual have been in use in the Executive Group and have proved successful in cutting down individual effort and eliminating paper work and confusion. While it may be some time before Ruth Stine can get around to all the offices of the Company, it is recommended that these practices be studied and adapted to operation and put into effect wherever written or printed material of any kind is being handled or filed.

Beaumont Coffee Fund Surplus Is Donated To Local Agencies

Letters of thanks have been received from the health, welfare ,character-building and educational groups helped by the Beaumont Coffee Shop financial contributions last month. Here members of the Coffee Shop committee read over the "thank you" notes. Clockwise, they are Elsie Davis, System Industrial Sales; Bob Wynne, Statistical Department; H. C. Hansen, Corporation Department and Jeanette Goodknight, Customers Accounting.

Three French Engineers Visit Neches Power Station

Three French engineers, Jean Foulquier of Nantes, Gustave Pilastre of Bordeaux, and Pierre Senachant of Paris, all employees of Electricite de France, government-owned firm which serves about half of that nation, visited Neches Station November 16 to inspect the central information system at the power plant.

The tour was conducted by William Gurney, superintendent of results for the company; R. K. Wilkerson, plant superintendent at Neches Station; and Newah Melancon, standards supervisor in System Engineering, who acted as interpreter. The Frenchmen visited Gulf States as guests of J. J. Morrison, executive vice president.

Many Interested In Brain

Engineers from many nations have visited Beaumont to see the new system since its installation. Japan, Italy, Mexico, Brazil and now France have all sent representatives to see the electronic marvel in operation. Besides these countries, engineers from many systems inside the United States have come to study the performance of the computer and calculator.

Eliminates Many Individual Readings

The central information control system, as pointed out in November Plain Talks, eliminates thousands of individual gauge and meter readings which formerly were taken around the clock by individual employees. The system automatically scans and records the readings and decides on the most efficient operating schedule for the power plant system. Prior to installation of the new system, 28,100 readings were made at Neches Station every 24 hours.

In addition to deciding economical operation, the central informations system gives advance warning if any piece of equipment shows a tendency to malfunction.

French Study Atomic Power

According to Mr. Senechant, the French power plants still burn coal, gas and oil but supplies of all three are dwindling. France has a pilot atomic power plant near Marseilles, but it is not yet on a commercial basis.

Our Happiest Yuletide Poem - - -

"Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house Not a creature was stirring,

Not even a mouse . . ."

For well over 100 years, the happy poem that begins thus has been part of just about every American's Christmas— but its modest author never dreamed or intended it so.

He was a shy, scholarly professor, Clement C. Moore, in New York City, and he wrote the beloved lines in 1822 just to amuse his own children one Christmas Eve. They were delighted, and so was a family friend, who sent it to the editor of her home-town paper with no name signed to it.

In the years that followed, many newspapers reprinted the poem anonymously; it was not until 1837 that the author's name became known. In the 1850's, the poem began appearing in school books. Professor Moore never sought or received royalties.

The poem has been printed in multimillions of copies, translated into almost every language and into braille. An artist of a century ago drew a Saint Nick from Moore's description—("His eyes, how they twinkled! His dimples, how merry . . . And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow . . .") and gave us a Santa Claus which has endured these generations.

Sympathy

PLAIN TALKS joins his many friends throughout our system in expressing sincere sympathy to Joseph E. De-Jean on the accidental death of his brother, Jack, who was killed on December 5 while performing his duties as a member of the Florida Department of Wildlife and Fisheries. Mr. DeJean, supervisor of advertising, attended funeral services which were held in Port Barre, Louisiana.

A thanksgiving theme written by Ruby Lea Milton, daughter of Wilson L. Milton, Baton Rouge T & D Substation Department, entered in a Baker High School contest, was selected to be read before the student body. Due to space limitations, we were unable to print the theme in the last issue, but the feelings expressed still hold true for the Christmas spirit.

Reby Lea follows in the footsteps of older sister Barbara, (Plain Talks-March, 1956) who was an honor graduate at Baker High School last June.

Ruby's theme follows:

Exactly what is Thanksgiving?

According to Webster's Students Dictionary, thanksgiving is "the act of rendering thanks especially to God, a prayer expressing gratitude, a public acknowledgment or celebration of divine goodness and mercies, and a day set apart for such acknowledgment or celebration."

Can this word have so many meanings each one as important as the next?

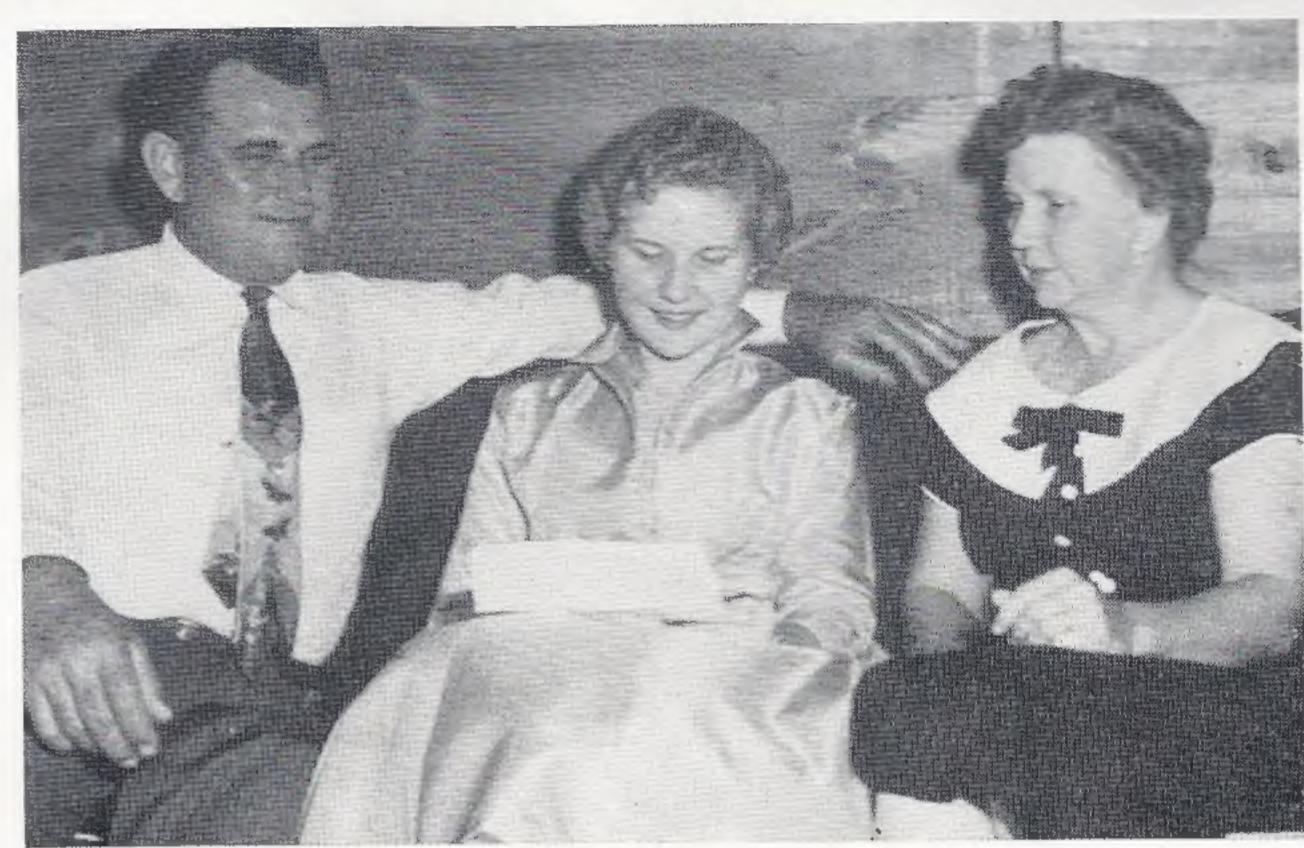

A majority of people would probably say, "When I think of Thanksgiving, I can see a table full of food with a turkey stuffed with my favorite dressing as the centerpiece and all my aunts, uncles, cousins, and intimate family members getting together for a great time." Or, "To me Thanksgiving is just getting off from school for a week of relaxation with no worries whatsoever, plus the turkey dinner and company to finish off the week."

But have any of these people ever stopped to think about the real meaning of Thanksgiving? No, if they had, they couldn't pass this event off so lightly but instead would do just what the word says, "give thanks." Let's go back and find out just what brought about this particular holiday.

We all, at one time or another, have heard and probably studied about the pilgrims who came to our country from England on the "Mayflower." Why did they come? They had been ruled and told how to worship for so long that they probably would have done almost anything to escape it all. So they boarded the Mayflower and came to the New World, not really knowing what they should expect, but hoping for the best.

These people settled at Plymouth Rock in Massachuetts and tried their luck. Can't you imagine their happiness and joy when they found the soil was fertile enough to grow crops? They faced many hardships waiting for their first harvest.

God must undoubtedly have been with them through it all, and they surely must have felt His presence on the day that they found their first try at growing crops was a success. They called this day "Thanksgiving," and that was just what it was for them. They thanked God for being so generous and good to them.

When one thinks back over these things, how can he just think of food and having a good time on Thanksgiving? There is another side to it, a side with a deeper meaning.

To me Thanksgiving means all these things and more. I owe my very being to God. It would be impossible to have Thanksgiving without Him. Were it not for Him, there would be no turkey, no aunts, uncles, and cousins; there would be nothing. We owe this one day a year to Him. We really should make every day a day of thanksgiving, but if everyone would stop on this particular day and make a list of everything he had to be thankful for, there would not be enough pencils and paper in this world.

Thus to me Thanksgiving means briefly, "giving thanks to God for everything that is His," and believe me, it is everything!

Sixty-five Teachers Attend Annual BE Day

Some 65 teachers from Beaumont area schools toured Neches Station and heard a talk on "Your Electric Utility Industry" by Vice President E. L. Robinson, general sales manager, during our company's observance of Business-Education Day, November 9 and 12.

After assembling at the Beaumont Service Center, the teachers were welcomed by L. M. Welch, division manager. Mr. Robinson's talk, illustrated by slides followed. The sound film "Eager Minds" explaining electricity and some of the work of an electric utility company was last on the service center agenda.

Following guides Bill Thomson, Fred Tenholder, and H. C. Sandefer, the teachers boarded buses and were taken to Neches Station.

Gandy H. Hall, Price Bradshaw, R. H. Henckel, N. F. Black, L. L. Landry, W. K. Haynie, Jr., and J. R. Wheeler escorted groups of the teachers through the power plant and explained its operation. Arrangements for the Neches Station tour were made with Plant Superintendent R. K. Wilkerson.

After the tour, the teachers were taken to the Harvest Club as our guests for luncheon.

W. T. Buckley Awarded High Honors

Kelsey Lamb, president of the Trinity-Neches Boy Scout Council, congratulates (left to right) Mr. Buckley, Lee A. Taylor of Colmesneil, and E. W. Tubb of Woodville, two other recipients of the Silver Beaver Award. Mr. Buckley has been active in scouting for 33 years. Altogether the three have contributed 77 years of volunteer work to the Boy Scouts.

W. T. "Bill" Buckley, Beaumont Plant Accounting, last month received two high awards for community service.

The highest honor for volunteer service in Boy Scout work—the Silver Beaver Award—was presented to Mr. Buckley at the Trinity-Neches Boy Scouts Council's annual meeting last month.

The other award, Beaumont's "Most Optimistic Citizen" of the year, was given by the city's Optimist Clubs. The award, a highlight of Optimist Week, was presented at a joint meeting of the Evening Optimist Clubs and the Opti-Mrs. Clubs.

Mr. Buckley was chosen for the "Most Optimistic Citizen" honor on the basis of his more than 33 years of activity in Boy Scouting and for his other civic activities. The award was given to him for the Optimist Clubs by Mr. W. H. McMullen, executive of the Trinity-Neches Boy Scout Council.

Active In Scouting

Going through the ranks as a Boy Scout, he has been active in leadership roles ever since winning his Eagle award in 1926.

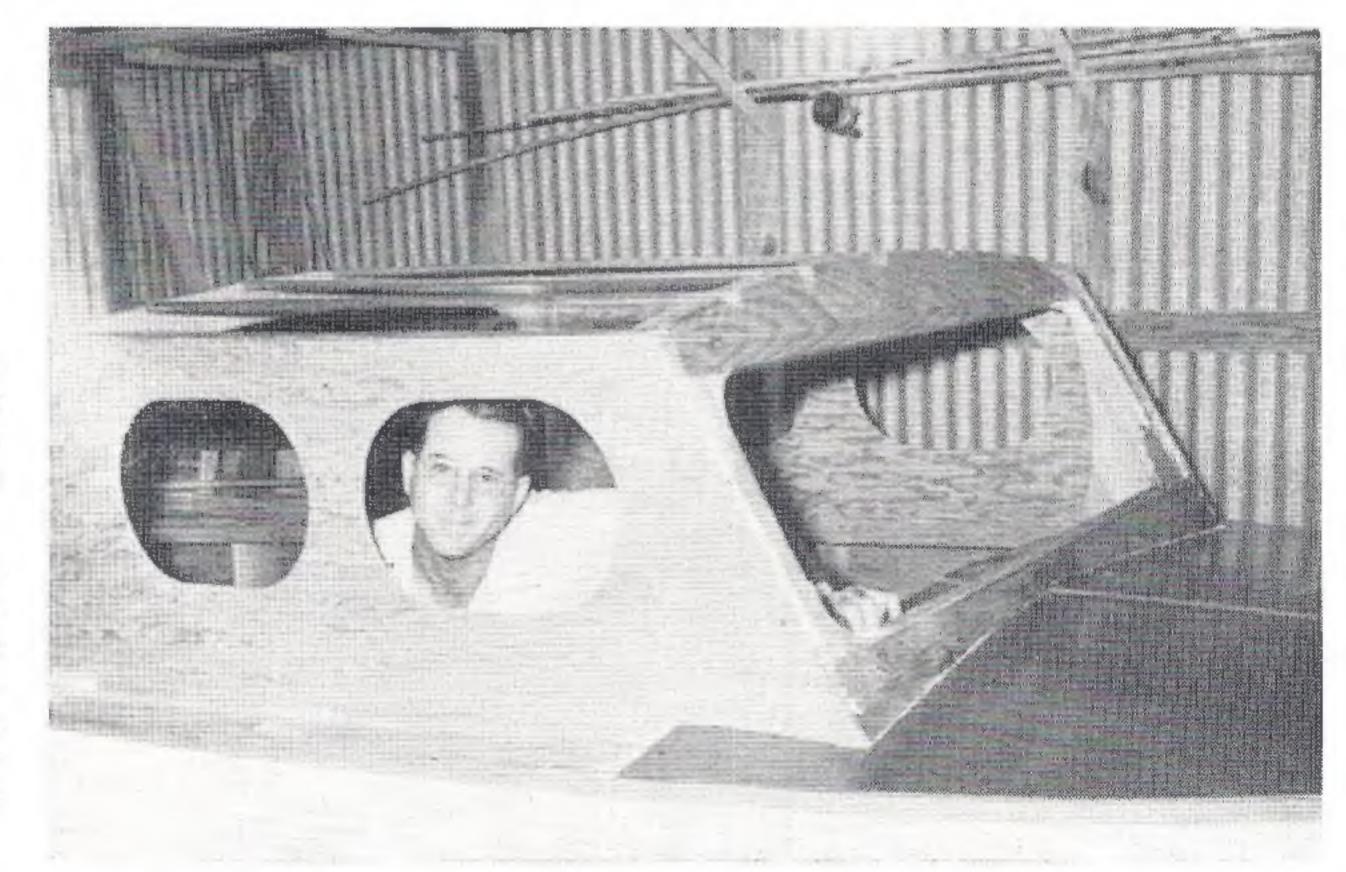

Live Wire Club Plans Recreation Area Near Silsbee

The Live Wire Club is negotiating to lease 20 acres of land on Village Creek for a club and recreation area for Texas Gulf Staters. Proposed site is three miles west of Silsbee.

Negotiations with Southwestern Settlement and Development Corp., a division of East Texas Pulp and Paper Company, for the land have been under way for several months. Facilities at the site will be patterned along the lines of the Flying Red Horse Club and several others in the area.

Texas employees not yet contacted by the Live Wire Club who wish to have the organization explained to them can contact Don R. Clawson in the Engineering Department.

Dues have been set at five dollars per year deducted from pay quarterly.

D. A. Spell of the Lake Charles garage is making plans for his share of speckled trout and redfish for the coming season come chill winds or high water. As a result of his fishing spirit, he wanted to be able to stay with the sport when most people head for shelter. He designed a cab for his boat which allows him to keep warm and dry in bad weather. Mr. Spell, who recently finished the boat remodeling job, has taken his family and several friends for cruises on Big Lake. In the picture, he is finishing up the cabin on his boat.

BATON ROUGE

Miss Coleen Bolton, mail clerk in the Baton Rouge Customer Accounting Department, was married to L. A. Donaldson, Thanksgiving, November 22 at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Baton Rouge. Miss Bolton joined Gulf States last Summer. Mr. Donaldson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Donaldson (he's service supervisor in the Electric Department). Miss Bolton is the daughter of the late O. K. Bolton, long time Gulf Stater.

Miss Betty Ann Landry (PLAIN TALKS, October, 1956) and John Watkins Huber will exchange marriage vows December 26, at the St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Baton Rouge. Miss Landry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Landry (he is industrial sales engineer in Baton Rouge).

The annual Kiwanis Club pancake derby in Baton Rouge has gone all electric. During last month's popular affair, Gulf Staters Lester Landry, right, and Dolph McKowen, not shown, set up the electric equipment and also helped turn out flap jacks by the stack. Both are commercial sales representatives. R. O. Wheeler, superintendent of the Gas Department, and C. B. Barron, sales superintendent, also took turns at the griddle. Both are Kiwanians. A record crowd enjoyed the all day parade of pancakes, a la kilowatt.

Seems like the 1956 DeSoto is taking the spot light at Louisiana Station. We understand that Superintendent R. H. Lawton and Chief Engineer A. H. Demers each have a new one.

LAFAYETTE

A very Happy Birthday to: Cifroyen Richard, Nat Broussard, Charles Gary, William Sheets, Joyce Fournet, John Landry, John Rost, Jr., Frank Sonnier, E. Rauschenberg, Harrison Carlin, and Cynthia DuBois, who celebrate birthdays this month.

Employees who recently enjoyed vacations were: E. Rauschenberg, Bernard Wiltz, Elmer Sudderth, Robert Compton and M. M. Miller.

Everyone was glad to see Russell Bonnet back on the job after a brief illness. Russell is utility man.

Lee Broussard and Roy L. Jowers, both of the Beaumont Meter Department, are all smiles after what looks like a very successful duck hunt in November. Location of their blind could not be obtained for PLAIN TALKS.

Sympathy is extended to: Luther Gallet, Lafayette serviceman, on the death of his sister; Bernard Wiltz, on the death of Mrs. Wiltz's brother; and Frank Sonnier, on the death of Mrs. Sonnier's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Farmer announce the birth of a son, Stephan Paul, who made his appearance on November 14. Chester is a line crewman.

Rose Marie Mouton and Cynthia Du-Bois, departmental clerks, watched the L. S. U.-Tulane game in New Orleans on December 1.

Rose Marie Mouton proved that office girls have other talents when she modeled a very chic and stunning outfit on the local TV station recently.

Miss Jeanette LeBlanc enjoyed the Thanksgiving holidays with her fiance, Harry Smith, Jr., who is a dental student at Loyola University in New Orleans. Miss LeBlanc is a customer's clerk in the Lafayette office.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank LeMire have ed to a new location at 417 West Convent St., Lafayette. He is accounting supervisor for the Lafayette office.

A farewell party was held for Priscilla Hebert, former T & D Department clerk and Plain Talks reporter, who resigned to start a family. A large diaper bag filled with baby needs was presented to Mrs. Hebert by her coworkers. After the presentation of the gift, refreshments were served to the party members. Plain Talks thanks Mrs. Hebert for her help and welcomes new reporter Cynthia DuBois.

Miss Florine Wimberly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L.
